MEET KEVIN

Kevin Ross Emery is an Inspirational Catalyst with over 30 years of experience guiding individuals, teams, and organizations to live and lead more consciously. With a background in psychology, business, and spiritual development, he offers a rare blend of insight that bridges both personal growth and professional performance. Kevin tailors each presentation to meet the unique needs, challenges, and language of the group he's working with — whether it's a corporate team, a classroom, or a spiritual community.

During his time in corporate America, Kevin brought his expertise to such companies as American Express, Dartmouth College, Hilton, Sheraton, and Brooks Pharmacy, helping them navigate complex team dynamics, improve communication, and foster empowered leadership.

Through his company Managing the Gift, Kevin has reframed ADD/ADHD as a different operating system rather than a disorder — a perspective embraced in healthcare, education, business, and spiritual circles.

Kevin is the author of over a dozen books spanning ADHD, spirituality, poetry, and fiction, and the host of several long-running radio and TV shows including Outside the Box with Dr. Kevin, Web of Light, and Laughing, Loving, & Alive.

His no-nonsense style, intuitive insight, and sharp wit make him a favorite with audiences who are tired of fluff and hungry for real change.

*"He is dynamic,
he's inspirational,
he's positive, he has an aura about him in his speaking engagements that's second to none."*

Douglas Robson

"His practical common sense - combined with his uncanny gift for seeing the "truth" of the situation (all finished off with a wicked sense of humour) - put him in an unrivalled class when it comes to both personal and business development."

Olivia Stefanino

"He's very entertaining, very direct, very funny, and I always get some very significant insight from him that I never get from anybody else."
